New Sources Available to Trace
Converso and Crypto-Jewish Lineages

March 15, 10:30 AM in the Adult Reading Room - The Hub Library

Internationally known researcher and author Genie Milgrom, a leading figure in the study of Converso and Crypto-Jewish genealogy, will share newly emerging tools and archival materials that enable families to reconnect with ancestors whose identities were hidden for centuries.

Genie Milgrom was born in Havana, Cuba into a Roman Catholic Family of Spanish Ancestry. In an unparalleled work of genealogy, she was able to fully document her unbroken maternal lineage 22 generations going back as far as 1405 to Pre-Inquisition Spain and Portugal.

Historical Note – Why March 15 Matters

March 15 carries significance in Crypto-Jewish history. On this date in 1481, the Spanish Inquisition carried out the first public sentencing and burning of individuals in Seville accused of being secret Jews (Conversos/Crypto-Jews). This tragedy marked an early and defining moment in centuries of persecution that followed, including the 1492 Alhambra Decree. Many families later preserved their Jewish identity in secret or fled to the New World—lineages Genie Milgrom’s work helps uncover today.
